Formulation matters

Syngenta originally developed and launched Bonzi[®] plant growth regulator, which growers know and trust. Growers who use it know that when they open a jug, they will get the same high-quality formula they have come to trust. Bonzi delivers growers' expectations of consistency, performance and efficacy.

Bonzi is labeled for multiple application methods to provide versatility and flexibility. It can be applied as a spray, drench or pre-plant bulb soak on a wide variety of bedding plants, bulb crops, annual and perennial plants, as well as herbaceous and woody ornamentals.

Why risk it?

Well-known and proven, Bonzi is the product of choice for growers who want to avoid the risk of losing plant quality as a result of inconsistent plant growth regulators. Particularly for high-value crops, Bonzi is an ideal choice for more reliable profitability.

Bonzi consistently performs well and helps provide:

- Enhanced appearance
- Greater uniformity
- Tolerance to drought and transport stress
- Less breakage during handling

Proven performance

Time-after-time, Bonzi has proven to be versatile and effective as a plant growth regulator. Applied as both a spray and a drench, it has been successful across a variety of plant types by keeping plants compact, uniform and beautiful.
